JIM STALEY IS NOW ON TRIAL

Negro Who Shot Revenue Officer Reece.

Was Caught in Davidson Last Summer—Contends That He Is Innocent of Charge—Charters Issued—Appeal For Help For Thompson Orphanage—Promotion For Henry W. Miller—Negro Charged With Unusual Offense.

Raleigh, Nov. 23.—Jim Staley is on trial in the Federal court here on the charge of being the member of a squad of blockaders who fired the shot that almost mortally wounded Revenue Officer H. C. Reece in March, 1908, while he and a number of others officers were making a raid to destroy blockade dusters. Staley is a negro. He got away at the time of the shooting. Another member of the party, Ed Brooks, was captured at the time and has served his sentence in the Atlanta penitentiary. He is back here now as a witness to swear that Staley was not in the party at all. However, Reece, who has known him for a number of years, identifies him positively and he is corroborated positively by Officers W. G. Pool, C. M. Babbitt and others who were in the party and saw Staley fire the shot that struck Reece. Staley was only captured last September in Davidson county where he was passing himself off as Will Welborn, brother of George Welborn. In fact he was married by that name only a few months ago. The taking of testimony consumed the morning session and the arguments of counsel and the charge of Judge Connor rounded out the afternoon session leaving the case in the hands of the jury.

The secretary of state charters two new corporations. One is the Green Farming Co., of Aberdeen, Moore county. The capital is $16,140 by J. B. Green, H. A. Page and others for general agricultural purposes. The other charter is for the Hasty Ginning Co., of Hasty, Scotland county. The incorporators are J. W. McLean and others and the capital $10,000.

In an especial appeal to churchmen of North Carolina to support the Thompson Orphanage and Training Institution—the Episcopal orphanage for North Carolina more amply and particularly an appeal for the largest possible Thanksgiving donations. Supt. W. J. Smith states that at the time the appeal was written, only a few days ago, the institution had only $2,01 in bank and is indebted to merchants around Charlotte about $475. Thanksgiving always brings a goodly aggregate of donations so that the financial strain is sure to be largely relieved at least for a time when the reports come in. The orphanage has cared for 427 children since it opened just 23 years ago. The capacity, constantly taxed now, is seventy.

Keenest regret is expressed here at the loss of Henry W. Miller for many years assistant to First Vice President A. B. Andrews, of the Southern Railway, he being ordered to report December 1 at Atlanta as assistant to President Finley, of the Southern to succeed J. S. B. Thompson, resigned. Mr. Miller is a native of Raleigh, was newsboy and telegraph messenger as a small boy here, became leading clerk and relief telegraph operator at the Raleigh freight office in 1885. Industry and close application to duties brought him steady promotion. He is a grandson of Hon. Henry W. Miller, one of the ablest and most eloquent men the state has produced.

A negro giving his name as Ed. Sunday and claiming New Hill as his home, is under arrest here for an unusual offense in that he represented himself as being in the employ of the local gas company and called at the homes of a number of prominent citizens to "inspect their gas and electric equipment," going through the houses and making notes as he went. It is suspected, that he was paving the way for burglaries, but there is no direct evidence of this against him.

Charged With Cruelty To Animals.

In Municipal Court yesterday morning George Wright was arraigned on the charge of being cruel to animals. The evidence was too weak and the defendant was acquitted. Shuge Curran was convicted on the charge of peddling without a license. Judgment was suspended on payment of costs.

ECONOMY KITCHEN'S SLOGAN

Democratic Congressman Says House Must Cut Down Extravagance.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 23.—Representative Claude Kitchin, of North Carolina, who has won reputation as one of the most slashing debaters on the Democratic side of the House, reached Washington last night and at once made known his intention to begin a fight for a reform of the extravagances introduced by the Republicans during their long lease of legislative power. He said, in discussing the situation:

While the Democratic House was elected in the belief that there would be an honest revision of the tariff, there were other influences that prompted the voters to deprive the Republican party of power. The reckless extravagance of the Republicans which has been increasing yearly, was not overlooked by the intelligent voter, and I for one shall urge economy and retrenchment at every turn in the Sixty-second Congress. As soon as the Democratic caucus meets I shall introduce a resolution providing for the appointment of a committee to weed out the useless offices around the House of Representatives. Year after year the Republicans have put additional employees on the pay-roll, and now they are so numerous that a member can hardly make his way around the building without treading on their heels. By abolishing these useless positions I am satisfied we can effect an annual saving of $200,000. The new Democratic House must show the nation that it did not seek power for the sake of patronage. How better could we encompass the demand for economical government than by striking down the extravagance and graft at our beck and call?

The Democratic party in the next House should follow the example of the late Samuel J. Tilden, and give the people an economical government. Fifteen in undisputed power has made the Republican party reckless, extravagant and deaf to all pleas for economy. Expenses have piled up year after year with little justification. We ought to investigate every department and see how things have been going. Graft and extravagance must be exposed. Such investigations will better enable us to put into effect economy in the government service.

WRESTLING MATCH CALLED OFF.

Overshadowed by Interest in Thanksgiving and Football.

The wrestling match which was to have been held last night at the Grand between Messrs. T. O. Parker and S. E. Hippis, was called off on account of lack of patronage, there being present only about thirty people. All ticket holders had their money promptly refunded.

It is not known why the sporting public did not respond more liberally to this enterprise, but it is thought that it was simply overshadowed by the spirit of Thanksgiving and the absorbing interest in the various contests here today, as well as by the Carolina-Virginia football game at Richmond, which is being attended by an unusually large number of Greensboro people.

THERE WILL BE LIVELY TIMES AT MCLEANVILLE TODAY

A Neighborhood Fair Followed by Entertainment and Oyster Supper.

It is likely that Greensboro will be well represented today at McLeansville when a neighborhood fair will be in progress all day and an entertainment and oyster supper will take place tonight. The fair will be just like a country fair, only smaller. There will be all kinds of articles on exhibit. The entertainment and oyster supper will be under the auspices of the Betterment Association of the graded school. Everything will be free except the oyster supper and the proceeds from that will go to the further improvement of the school.

Thanksgiving at the Jail.

Jailor Apple has only ten guests for Thanksgiving at the county hotel. All are colored except one man, a federal prisoner. Whitfield, Watson and Hogan the negro dynamiters, are still awaiting the arrival of the official decision of the Supreme court. When this arrives they will be taken to Raleigh to serve their sentences so this will probably be their last Thanksgiving Day in Greensboro in several years.

Library Closed Today.

The library will be closed on Thanksgiving day and will open as usual on Friday, Nov. 26 at 10 a. m.

The Boys' Exhibition which promises to be a decided success, will be open to visitors on Friday at 3 p. m. The public most cordially invited to attend.

THANKSGIVING IN GREENSBORO

The Day Will be Observed Quite Generally

Banks and Public Offices and Majority of Business Houses Will Be Closed—Divine Services To Be Held At Several Churches—Offerings For Orphanages of Several Denominations—Football In Afternoon.

Thanksgiving Day will be observed more generally in Greensboro than in years. The banks, public offices and a large number of the business houses will be closed and the employees will be given the opportunity of attending divine services and returning thanks for all they have to be thankful for. And Greensboro people have much to be thankful for this year. There has been less sickness throughout the city than in several years and business shows an improvement over last year.

The city schools closed yesterday afternoon for the week, the children holding appropriate exercises. The pupils will have two holidays in succession.

A large number of the people will go hunting, others will attend church in the morning and the football game in the afternoon. Others will go down to Charlotte to take in the football game. If the weather is fair the occasion will be enjoyed to the fullest by everybody in the city.

Union services will be held at 11 a. m. at the Friends church in South Greensboro and at Spring Garden Street Methodist church in West Greensboro. Participating in the service at the Friends church will be the congregation of Asheboro Street Baptist, Westminster Presbyterian, Centenary Methodist, First Reformed, Moravian and Friends churches. The sermon will be preached by Rev. D. M. Litaker, pastor of Centenary church. The union service at Spring Garden Street Methodist will be attended by the congregations of the Forest Avenue Baptist and Spring Garden Street Methodist churches and the Church of the Covenant. Rev. R. Murphy Williams will preach the sermon. At the union service the several congregations will make contributions for their denominational orphanages.

At 11 o'clock services will be held at West Market Street Methodist, First Presbyterian and Holy Trinity churches. At each service an offering will be made for the orphanage of the denomination.

Special musical programs have been arranged for each of the above services. The public is cordially invited to attend any of the above services.

The musical program for Holy Trinity follows:

In the afternoon at Cone Park the High Schools of Greensboro and Fayetteville will play a game of football.

Many Went To Richmond.

About a hundred and twenty-five Greensboro people left last night on the Southern's special for Richmond to attend the annual football game between the Universities of Virginia and North Carolina this afternoon. The special started at Charlotte and was well filled when it left here at 11:30. Others were picked up at Reidsville and Danville. The special will return tonight.

Rev. Livingston Johnson To Preach Here Sunday.

The pulpit committee of the First Baptist church has secured the consent of Rev. Livingston Johnson, of Raleigh, to occupy the pulpit next Sunday morning and Sunday night. Rev. Mr. Johnson is a former pastor of the church and is popular with Greensboro people of all denominations.

CLARK'S FRIENDS ARE SURE

Enough Already Pledged To Elect Him Speaker, They Say.

Washington, Nov. 23.—As the time for the convening of Congress approaches the friends of Champ Clark of Missouri, are becoming more and more confident that he will be elected Speaker of the next House without Democratic opposition. Those who are in his confidence claim that he has now more than 140 pledges from Democratic members of the next Congress, considerably more than enough to insure him the caucus nomination.

For the party to think seriously of electing any other man as Speaker of the next House, it is contended, would be absurd. As Congressman Ollie James, of Kentucky, puts it, it would be equivalent to a victorious army turning against its general the moment the victory had been gained. Mr. Clark's friends say that the Western and Southern Democrats are practically solid for him and that the talked-of opposition in the East has not developed. Some of his strongest supporters, it is declared, are Eastern Democrats. The Clark forces regard the fight as won, and they predict that in the Democratic caucus prior to the assembling of the next Congress no other name than his will be presented.

DOG HUNTS UP HIS DOCTOR

Promptly Takes Broken Leg to Man Who Set It Once Before.

Topeka, Kas., Nov. 23.—Tobe is a splendid bull terrier owned by Hal Hotchkiss. Some time ago in carelessly alighting from a motorcar one of Tobe's front legs were broken, and he was taken to Dr. Otto Kiene, where the injured member was set and held tight by a plaster cast.

Yesterday Tobe broke his leg again. The Hotchkiss home is fully a mile from the Kiene residence, but Tobe did not want to be personally conducted to the doctor's. On three legs he beat it across town to Dr. Kiene's where, on the front porch, he sat and cried pitifully until the doctor heard him. Once more the leg was mended, but Tobe is denied the companionship of other dogs for a while.

Opens Branch Here.

Mr. Walter C. Flournoy, secretary of the Thomasville Audit and Accounting Company, was here yesterday and completed arrangements to open here a branch of his company. The company does auditing and accounting and also undertakes to give employment to accountants. The company has branches in Greensboro, Durham, Charlotte, Asheville, Columbia, Spartanburg and Charleston.

Remains Carried To Putnam.

The remains of Mrs. F. A. Dorsett, Gregory street, whose death occurred Tuesday night at 9:30 o'clock, were yesterday taken to Putnam, Moore county, where interment will be made. Accompanying the remains were Mr. F. A. Dorsett and the four children of the deceased.

MEAT TRUST CUTS PRICES

Chicago Packers Again Shave Prices of Beef, Mutton and Pork.

Chicago, Nov. 23.—Packers yesterday announced general reductions in the wholesale cost of dressed beef, mutton and pork.

Even the lordly spare rib, which had been regarded as immune from downward revision, came in for a reduction of one cent a pound. Pork loins and tenderloins were accorded the same treatment. Dressed beef loins were lowered one-half to one cent a pound, and the No. 1 cut was quoted at 17 cents, as contrasted to 18 cents Saturday. Beef ribs were reduced to 12 cents for the No. 1 cut, and to 11 1/2 cents for the No. 2 cuts, which compare with 13 cents and 12 cents respectively at the close last week. No. 1 beef rounds also suffered a loss of one-half cent a pound.

The sharpest reduction of the entire list was made on mutton loins, which were lowered two cents a pound—to 8 1/4 cents.

TREETOPS BAR DREAD FATE

Victims of Runaway Fished From High Refuge by Trainmen.

Greensburg, Pa., Nov. 23.—Dr. George Boehm and Mrs. Boehm were found hanging on trees along a steep hillside yesterday, after their team of horses had been killed on the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks 100 feet below.

The couple were driving about 200 feet above the track, when the horses became frightened and plunged over the steep hillside. Mrs. Boehm was thrown into the branches of a tree, while her husband continued with the runaways until he lost his hold, and was also pitched into a tree. The team alighted on the railroad tracks in time to be ground to pieces by a heavy freight train.

The crew investigated, and with ropes rescued the doctor and his wife. Mrs. Boehm was unconscious. Both were taken to Herminie, where their injuries were dressed.

Butler vs. Railroad Case Argued.

Mr. E. J. Justice returned last night to Raleigh where he went to argue the case of Butler vs. the Southern Railway Company and Penn Tobacco Company before the State Supreme court.

It will be remembered that some time ago a restraining order was secured stopping the defendant from running a spur track across the street in front of the plaintiff's property. The issue in the case that is being watched with much interest involves the right of a railroad company to erect a spur track across the streets of a municipality.

Davidson vs. Wake Forest.

A number of Greensboro people will go to Charlotte today to witness the football contest between Davidson and Wake Forest this afternoon. Interest in the game is increased because of the fact that J. Max Hendrix will appear in the game as a Davidson man. Max was one of the star players on the High School eleven last season.

FOOTBALL GAME THIS AFTERNOON

Fine Game Promised on Local Gridiron.

Greensboro and Fayetteville High Schools to Contest for Championship of State—Game Will Be Called At Three O'clock—Both Teams In Pink of Condition and Anxious For the Fray.

The biggest and last local football game of the season will be pulled off this afternoon at Cone Park between the Greensboro and Fayetteville teams. Both teams are in fine shape and the game promises to be a treat for those interested in the high school and football. The Fayetteville bunch arrived in the city last evening and they are a fleet and nimble looking set. But if practice and hard work mean anything the local boys are prepared for them.

One of Greensboro's best men, Bond, is crippled and cannot be in the game, but McDuffie, the right end who has been out for some time with a game knee, will resume his position as end in the game today.

The Greensboro team has had but one defeat by a high school this year and that was the close game of 3 to 5 with Raleigh. Fayetteville has always had a strong team in the field and they are striving to improve their record this year so as to lay claim to the eastern championship. Their team is fast and aggressive and the predictions among football sports is that the game will be hard fought from start to finish.

Capt. Coffin, whose cut is shown on this page, has managed the locals as quarterback for the past three years and has each year lead the team to victory, making it the champion high school team of the state. He was last year the star high school punter of the state and there is no question as to the position he will occupy this season.

Grimsley's stiff arm and Dixon's line plunges have been prominent features of the games this season and they are both in good shape for their old stunts. Foust has shown up this year as being one of the best centers that the local Highs have ever produced. Yates and Marrs as backs are good ground gainers and are noted for throwing wonderful circles around the ends of their opponents. Murray, who plays right end, is fleet and sure on forward passes. Fisher and Lindau as guards have shown up wonderfully well in the last several games as being able to stand like stone walls while battered on by their opponents.

The following is the line up of the two teams:

Greensboro	Fayetteville
Murray	C. Van
Harry	L. T. Clift
Lindau	L. G

MARK TWAIN ONCE SAID

"It is Spring Fever that causes the general unrest, lack of ambition and run-down condition which pervades the human system in the Spring of the year."

The sudden change from frigid to toasty weather occurs within a few weeks especially in our northern states.

No wonder pulmonary troubles—pneumonia, spring fever, and all such ailments are almost universal.

If people in this vicinity only knew the value of Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic (without oil) at this season of the year, we would not be able to get enough to supply the demand.

Vinol tones up the digestive organs, purifies and enriches the blood, promotes healthful sleep and a normal appetite.

All people, delicate children, rundown, overworked and tired women, those suffering from bronchitis, chronic coughs and colds, all derive great benefit from Vinol.

Buy a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you. Fariss-Klutz Drug Co., Greensboro, N. C.

I have been taking medicine and other drugs, but could find no relief only for a short time. PINK EYE SPREADING.

Hundreds of Case of the Painful Malady in the City.

Baltimore Evening Sun.

Look out for the "pink eye."

There are hundreds of cases in Baltimore, and while the disease is not considered an epidemic it has assumed such proportions in its spread as to warrant a timely warning.

At the Virginia Military Institute, Lexington, Va., it has been the cause of closing the school until January 6, the action having been taken by Gen. E. W. Nichols, superintendent, as necessary to rid the institution of the disease. In addition to the epidemic of pink eye at the Virginia Military Institute, there is also an outbreak of typhoid fever.

"What is pink eye?"

This question was asked of a well-known oculist this morning. Pink eye is generally known as pink eye and nothing more, the name being suggested by the disease, which inflames the eyeball and causes great pain. But the definition of pink eye is an inflammation of the conjunctiva, or outer membranous covering of the eyeball. Another name for it is conjunctivitis. Not only the eyeballs become sore, but often the eyelid, and the inflammation is of such a character as to cause intense soreness.

Pink eye cannot be called serious, although cases have been known to result seriously when the patient was not given the proper attention. It is a very communicable trouble, generally being transmitted through the medium of roller towels. The affection is of such a nature that the one affected is completely handicapped from attending to any duties except that of riding himself of the malady.

One simple device makes an ordinary gas cook stove automatically when it is turned either on or off, thus requiring a conscious effort for either operation. Its purpose is to prevent accidental asphyxiation.

The Travelers' Insurance Company of Hartford exhibits a device to be applied either by punching machines or printing presses to make it impossible for the operator to get a finger caught. The insurance company says that it pays to demonstrate this device and furnish free of charge blueprint diagrams for its construction.

Saves an Iowa Man's Life.

The very grave seemed to yawn before Robert Madsen, of West Burlington, Iowa, when, after seven weeks in the hospital, four of the best physicians gave him up. Then was shown the marvelous curative power of Electric Biters. For, after eight months of frightful suffering from liver trouble and yellow jaundice, getting no help from other remedies or doctors, five bottles of this matchless medicine completely cured him. It positively guaranteed for Stomach, Liver or Kidney troubles and never disappoints. Only 50 c. at Fariss-Klutz Drug Co.

NOT ALWAYS.

SHALL WOMEN VOTE?

If they did, millions would vote Dr. King's New Life Pills the true remedy for women. For banishing dull, fagged feelings, backache or headache, constipation, dispelling colds, imparting appetite and toning up the system, they're unequalled. Easy, safe, sure. 25c. at Fariss-Klutz Drug Co.

SAFETY MUSEUM IS OPENED.

Many Devices for Guarding Life Are Shown.

New York Sun.

The American Museum of Safety established itself permanently in a large room on the sixth floor of the Engineering Societies' Building, in West Thirtieth street, last night, and by way of announcing the fact exercises were held in the auditorium on the third floor.

The museum exists for the purpose of displaying all sorts of inventions and contrivances for the preservation of human life.

This museum is the fourteenth of its kind in the world, but the first in this country. There are a dozen such museums in Europe and one in Canada.

The room on the sixth floor of the Engineering Building is filled with a thousand and one devices, most of them of practically tested value. Here is a locking device, painted red by which a boiler cleaner or repairer can head off all possibility of steam being turned on when he enters the boiler. There have been many accidents where boiler cleaners were scalded to death because some one, supposing the boiler to be empty, turned on the steam. The National Tube Company exhibits this device, with which its factories are supplied.

One simple device makes an ordinary gas cook stove automatically when it is turned either on or off, thus requiring a conscious effort for either operation. Its purpose is to prevent accidental asphyxiation.

The Perfection Oil Heater has an automatic-locking flame spreader, which prevents the wick from being turned high enough to smoke, and is easy to remove and drop back, so the wick can be quickly cleaned. The burner body or gallery cannot become wedged and can be unscrewed in an instant for rewicking. The Perfection Oil Heater is finished in japan or nickel, is strong, durable, well-made, built for service, and yet light and ornamental.

AN INGENIOUS SMUGGLER

By SAMUEL E. BRANT

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

"These cases of rich people returning from Europe," I said to a New York customs inspector, "must interest you greatly."

"Not for their ingenuity," he replied. "These millionaires are very stupid in their devices for concealing dutiable goods. Our most interesting cases are the professionals, who are familiar with the old dodges and constantly inventing new ones."

"A few years ago I was cabled from Southampton by a confederate detective that a regular smuggler named Kelsner—at least that was one of his names—had gone aboard a liner with a large number of diamonds.

"On the day the steamer arrived I was on the dock, and there was Kelsner coming down the gangplank looking as innocent as a three-year-old child. Usually there is an intent look in a smuggler's eye which if carefully scrutinized betrays him. But Kelsner did not look worried a bit. I had him and his baggage taken into a private room and went through both. I split his boot heels. I combed his hair and beard. An enormous silver watch he wore looked suspicious, for I had known smugglers to have tiny works put in big watches and fill the empty space with jewels. But the watch was genuine. I demolished his cigars.

"In short, there was nothing about him that could be made hollow that I didn't destroy. When I had finished I had found nothing dutiable and had over $40 to pay for demolished property. I was obliged to let the man go through, but I sent a detective to keep him in sight.

"My man shadowed him for two weeks, when he was seen to enter a diamond merchant's shop. When he came out he had sold $20,000 worth of diamonds. The next day he was shadowed to another shop, where he disposed of as much more, and so on at intervals until he had got rid of $100,000 worth of stones.

"Mind you, I wasn't shadowing him to get the duty on these stones, for how could I prove they were smuggled? My object was to get on to another device in order to scotch it when I met it again and to gratify my curiosity. I will admit that the latter was my principal reason. I sent for Kelsner and told him I knew he had smuggled in the diamonds and gave him to understand that I had some proof of the fact. Of course he denied the charge, but I kept up the bluff for some time, then admitted there was some question as to whether the government could convict him. I offered not to prosecute him if he would confess and reveal to me how he had worked his scheme. He fought shy for awhile, then told me that if I would give him a bond of indemnity for himself and any other person or persons concerned with him he would tell me the story. I produced the bond, and he fulfilled his part of the contract.

"As soon as he had engaged his stateroom on the steamer he cabled the number to a confederate in New York. The confederate engaged the room for the return trip abroad. Kelsner went aboard on sailing day with the diamonds, carrying in a satchel a bit and brace, a narrow saw and a little paint. He knew what color the paint should be, for he had visited the room before. He bored a hole in the floor out of sight under the berth, where it would not be noticed, inserted his saw, cut out a small section of flooring, put in the diamonds, replaced the section of plank, daubed the edges with the paint, and the property was safely hidden.

"When he came ashore there was no occasion for him to betray excitement, for he had no diamonds in his possession. He had left them on the ship. No wonder that he looked unconcerned while we were searching property that might contain them. Indeed, the diamonds remained where he had hidden them till the day the vessel sailed on her return trip.

"Shortly before she pulled out of the dock Kelsner's confederate, who had engaged the stateroom where the diamonds were hidden, went to the room with his wife and daughters, who were there to see him off, took up the section of flooring, secured the stones and distributed them among the members of his family. Then when the ship was about to cast off they went ashore, bidding him goodby with tears in their eyes, and stood waving to him from the dock until he was out of sight.

"Now, wasn't this a pretty dish to set before the collector?

"The confederate was obliged to go across. He took the next steamer back and the day after he landed turned the jewels over to Kelsner, who sold them and divided the profits."

The inspector paused, lighted a cigar I gave him in lieu of remuneration for his story and remarked:

"No; the efforts of these amateur smugglers among the millionaires does not interest us customs men; it's too dead easy to get on to their schemes. The women do it all, and although a woman may be tricky in some ways she isn't in others. She can't lay any such deep plan as that originated by Kelsner. Without taking their husbands into their confidence they get up some old time device that we've long been on to, get caught, of course, and their husbands have to stand in the gap."

The people of Greensboro are invited to come to Winston-Salem on December 15 and see what a real city looks like.—Winston Journal.

Some of us will go, but not for that reason. We can see a real city without going so far from home.

There is nobody but has some reason to make this a Thanksgiving in fact as well as in name. For blessings often come in disguise and those who think they are suffering adversity usually find out later that the supposed adversity was the best thing for them. Thus the true spirit of Thanksgiving is contentment—not self-sufficiency or foolish complacency, but a refusal to cry over spilt milk if any has been spilled, a cheerful outlook, an abiding faith in the justice and wisdom of God. Looking at thankfulness in this light, any one can enter into the spirit of the occasion.

Probably the most closely contested Congressional district in the United States in the recent election was the Thirty-sixth of New York State. This 20,634 votes had been cast for Representative D. S. Alexander, the Republican candidate, and 20,634 for C. B.
Smith, the Democratic candidate. Later a stray Democratic vote was found on one of the tally-sheets and thus the tie was broken. This and other results of Nov. 8 certainly served to demolish the proposition that had been advanced in some quarters to the effect that the Democratic party was a "dead one." The fact is, a party named "Democratic" has a wonderful advantage of name. The waves of democracy are beating on every shore. People everywhere are clamoring for democracy. With the world thinking as it does about democracy, it is plain that it is immensely advantageous to a political party to be so named as to be inevitably associated with a movement which commands itself to the universal mind. We hope that the Democrat who got in by the skin of his teeth in the Thirty-sixth district of New York will so conduct himself in Congress as to prevent his running such a close risk of defeat next time.

According to the Philadelphia Evening Telegraph, a professional nurse, returning to the city from a stay in North Carolina, recently made the following statement in Philadelphia:

It is hard to believe that there is in America such abject poverty, such lack of common decencies of life, such ignorance and degeneracy as exists in the mountains of the South. There are hundreds of persons in the region I come from who have never seen the American flag, who don't know what Christmas is, whose only religion is a frenzy, who live in log cabins without any windows, who keep their babies alive on tobacco and snuff.

This is rank exaggeration. The woman has evidently allowed a few, scattering examples of the ignorance to which she refers to cause her to make a sweeping and unjust characterization of a whole section. The people in the mountains of North Carolina are about like the people in the mountains of Virginia, West Virginia, Tennessee and other states where there are any mountains—no better and no worse. It is refreshing to see her rash utterances strongly disapproved of by a paper of the standing of the Philadelphia Evening Telegraph, which says with great evidence of good, strong common sense and a desire to do justice to the South:

Philadelphia is a large town and there are perhaps several hundred persons in the city who have been pretty much all over North Carolina. They would like to particularize. What section is it so benighted that its people never heard of Christmas—and in the South, where Christmas is the one festival of the year that is universally observed. It is a week of rejoicing and good cheer. Again it would be interesting, as a hygienic curiosity, to know what manner of abnormalities keep their babies alive on tobacco and snuff. Tobacco is a narcotic. Its nutritive qualities have never been highly esteemed. There is truth, no doubt, in the statement that among them is to be found every sort of degeneracy, as well as blindness and deformity. So, too, may such things be on Market street. Whether their religion is a frenzy or not depends very much upon the point of view. It is certain that they have a religion, and that it is based upon an absolute acceptance of the Word, unembellished by any form of higher criticism. The Methodist Church has its preacher—circuit rider—in every community, and the Baptists are well represented. Now and then at revival meetings they "shout," perhaps—a manifestation of frenzy of honorable tradition since it comes down from Pentecost. It may be that these people need the presence of missionaries, but it is not to teach them the significance of Christmas or to prevent them from feeding their babies on tobacco.

THE REAL MUSIC.
(By Judson Peele.)

We've yelled with pride and adulation
When our candidate spoke fair
Of the party's restoration
To the power that's on the square.

We have marched with childish ardor
Down the street on circus day;
Following hard, and yet still harder
When the band began to play.

We have worn our pumps all winter
For the sake of room to stand
When some maestro held the center
Of that stage up in the Grand.

But no speech is half so thrilling
And no music is so gay
As the gobbler's glorious trilling
Just before Thanksgiving day.

TOBACCO IN THE ARCTIC.

Resource of Miners When They Can Neither Chew Nor Smoke.

"When the wind is blowing thirty miles an hour and the temperature is 40 below it is some cold," said a man from Alaska. "If a man used tobacco in the ordinary way out of doors during such weather and got his lips wet through smoking a pipe or chewing he would be apt to get into trouble. First he knew he'd have his lips cracked, and they would be raw all winter long.

The regulars stationed at the military posts up in Alaska found that if they tied a tobacco leaf in their armpit previous to undesired duty they would become very sick and could pass the post surgeon for hospital, getting rid of detail work they wanted to avoid.

The miners up there learned something of this and found that the tobacco craving could be satisfied by binding a quantity of the leaf either in the armpit or against the solar plexus. This avoided broken and bleeding lips during the winter, and they weren't prevented from smoking indoors as well if they wanted to. It was the out-door smoking or chewing that made all the trouble."—New York Sun.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies.

Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

ODDLY EXPRESSED.

Queer Ways in Which Ideas Are Sometimes Put Into Words.
Curious ways of expressing ideas in English may be expected from foreigners, as, for instance, when the Frenchman, who made a call in the country and was about to be introduced to the family, said: "Ab. ze ladies! Zen I would before if you please, vish to purify mine 'ands and to sweep mine hair."

A Scotch publican was complaining of his servant maid. He said that she could never be found when wanted.
"She'll gang oot o' the house," he said, "twenty times for once she'll come in."

A countryman went to a menagerie to examine the wild beasts. Several gentlemen expressed the opinion that the orang outang was a lower order of the human species. Hodge did not like this idea and, striding up to the gentleman, expressed his contempt for it in these words: "Pooh! He's no more of the human species than I be."

"Mamma, is that a spoiled child?"
asked a little boy on seeing a negro baby for the first time.

Thanksgiving Day
Proclamation

The first celebration was held by the Plymouth Colony in 1621, or two hundred and eighty-nine years ago.

We of course were not among this band, but the spirit of thankfulness has been handed down to us and this day affords us the opportunity of giving public expression of our thanks to the generous, intelligent and discriminating trading public of Greensboro and surrounding country for their liberal patronage and kindly support.

Seven years ago it was our good fortune to locate among this generous people.
Strangers, though we were, we were gladly welcomed and made to feel at home. This kindly spirit has so followed day after day and year after year that we have grown to be the largest exclusive dry goods store in our state.
For this phenomenal growth we sincerely thank the generous trading public of this fair city and surrounding country.
Today our store will be closed. Tomorrow we open to again serve you honestly, faithfully and intelligently as in the years past. Never a word nor a syllable, nor line, figure or price will appear in any of our advertisements but are facts fully and carefully substantiated by the goods in our store. And this means the giving of the same goods for less money or better goods for the same money.

Very thankfully yours,

Too Great To Be Covered Up By Outward Bravado.

London, Nov. 23.—Dr. Hawley Harvey Crippen today paid the penalty for the murder of his wife, Belle Elmore, the actress, within a few minutes of the stroke of nine, the morning hour fixed for the execution.

The hanging was in Pentonville prison, where the prisoner had been confined since his return to this country following his arrest in Canada.

The condemned man, who, throughout his trial and even until Home Secretary Churchill had refused a petition for his reprieve, had maintained a nimperturbable calmness, presented a pitiable appearance as he was literally led through the short corridor from his cell to the scaffold.

The mental anguish had been too great to be covered up by outward bravado and it was a broken man the wardens were obliged to assist up the steps to the drop, which once reached, the shrinking figure all but collapsed.

The first report that Crippen had met fate calmly was contradicted by persons who were present in the prison during the man's last hour. The doomed man passed a restless night and appeared haggard and worn when awakened from a fretful slumber. He seemed to lose all fortitude as the end approached. A breakfast was brought to him, but he left it untouched.

His face was colorless as he was escorted, bareheaded, to the gallows. The grooms work was soon done. The black cap was quickly drawn over the face—the noose adjusted and the bolt drawn.

Dr. Crippen, who weighed 140 pounds was given a drop of seven feet. Death was instantaneous.

From the time that his reprieve was refused, the physician's condition had been one of agonized mental prostration. He would see only Ethel Clara Leneve, for whom the crown asserted was the compelling motive in the murder of his wife. Solicitor Newton, who had made a game fight for his client, an Father Carey, to whose ministrations he paid respectful attention.

The final interview yesterday with Miss Leneve was most painful, and already in the shadow of death, the convicted murderer made no effort to suppress his emotions upon parting with the girl. During the remainder of the day he was in a state of complete nervous collapse, retiring to his bed utterly despondent.

Now that Dr. Crippen's lips are forever sealed, the usual post mortem rumors of an eleventh-hour confession are afloat. These should be read in the knowledge that on Sunday last the condemned man issued a signed statement in which he protested his perfect innocence; and that since that day, as for several days before, he had positively refused to see any one other than his keepers. Solicitor Newton, Miss Leneve and Father Carey.

Accordingly, the testimony of only these persons would appear to be of great matter in throwing light on the condemned man's last hours.

This morning, following the execution, the prison authorities issued an official statement declaring that no confession had been made. Miss Leneve denies that Crippen confessed. His attorney says that so far as he knows, his client maintained his innocence to the end. What was said to the priest preceding absolution can not, of course, be known. If Crippen confessed, as is asserted by a newly established evening newspaper, he made poor work of it, for the paper gives no authority for its assertions, which are credited to an anonymous friend of the doctor, who is himself quoted but briefly.

The only alleged new facts brought out are that Crippen was treating his wife for indigestion and substituted poison for the proper medicine and that he purchased in a shop in Holborn a dissecting knife which, after it had been used to dismember the body, the mur-derer threw into a neighbor's garden. In spite of this careless disposition of the tell-tale weapon, it has never been received by the police.

With these exceptions the alleged confession is a recital of the well-known story of the crime which might have been told by any one who had followed the widely-published proceedings of the court.

The execution of Dr. Hawley Harvey Crippen in London today completed the criminal records of one of the most sensational of recent murder cases. The brutality of the crime committed by a man who had been known as of a gentle and kindly nature, the murderer's spectacular flight to his native land and the fact that the case against the doctor was purely circumstantial combined to make the tragedy of absorbing interest not only in England where the murder was done but as well in America, where both Crippen and his wife were born.

Crippen, slight in figure, was just 50 years of age. He was born in Michigan and after studying medicine practiced in the United States and Canada. In 1906 he married Cora Mackintosh, of Brooklyn, a vaudeville actress, whose stage name was Belle Elmore. They removed to London, where the doctor engaged in dental manufacture. Soon there was domestic infidelity due, Crippen alleged, to the attentions his wife received from other men. Then Ethel Clara Leneve, a prepossessing woman, about 27 years of age, entered Crippen's employ as a typist. She sympathized with the doctor and the two fell in love. Meantime Crippen and his wife were estranged.

Nearly a year ago Miss Leneve, feeling her position keenly, became impatient with the situation. About the same time the doctor was in need of money. Mrs. Crippen disappeared suddenly last February. Her husband inserted a death notice in the papers, saying that she had succumbed to an illness while visiting in California. Actress friends of Mrs. Crippen persuaded Scotland Yard to make an investigation and the police officials interviewed Crippen on July 12. He threw the police off the scent but on the following day fled from London in company with Miss Leneve, who was disguised as a boy. Subsequently their presence on board the steamer Montrose was made known to Scotland Yard through wireless messages and as the Montrose was approaching the harbor of Quebec Crippen and Miss Leneve were arrested. This was on July 31.

In the meantime the police had visited the Crippen home in Hildrop Crescent and in the cellar unearthed parts of a woman's body. The medical experts who examined these parts were never able anatomically to prove that they were from the body of Belle Elmore. Nevertheless the jury that heard the Crippen case were satisfied that they were.

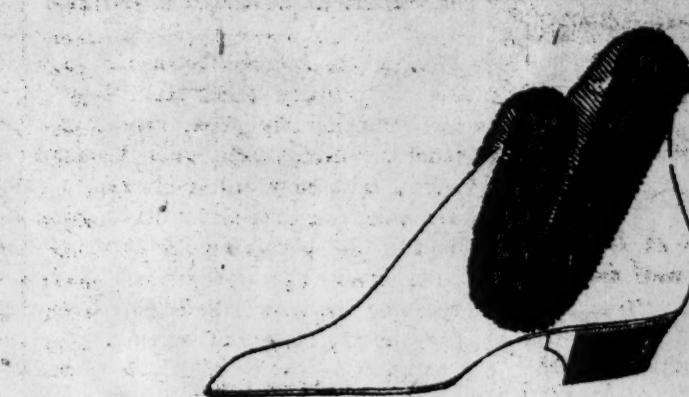

Crippen was indicted and convicted of the murder of his wife, the evidence including testimony that he had bought and administered poison, after which he dismembered the body. He was sentenced to be hanged on November 8, but secured a stay of execution until today. An appeal on his behalf was denied by the criminal court of appeals and a petition for a reprieve was rejected by Home Secretary Churchill.

Miss Leneve was indicted and charged as an accessory after the fact, but was acquitted.

Accordingly, the testimony of only these persons would appear to be of great matter in throwing light on the condemned man's last hours.

This morning, following the execution, the prison authorities issued an official statement declaring that no confession had been made. Miss Leneve denies that Crippen confessed. His attorney says that so far as he knows, his client maintained his innocence to the end. What was said to the priest preceding absolution can not, of course, be known. HER HUSBAND'S NEMESIS.

Mrs. White Purifies Spouse Five Years and Lands Him.

Baltimore Evening Sun.

Mrs. "Bill" White, of Washington, D. C., will be given a chance to prove her assertion that she "will do her wife's duty by obtaining her husband's release from the workhouse," for this morning he was indicted by the grand jury on the charge of bigamy.

Mrs. Julia Emily White, of New York, who claims to be the first wife of White, appeared before the inquest today and told a very interesting story of chasing her alleged deserting husband over the country for five years, spending thousands of dollars in locating him and finally overtaking him in Washington and confronting him in the presence of the "other wife."

The so-called Mrs. White No. 1, said that she married White 20 years ago in New York, and that they lived happily together until several years ago he deserted her. She said that they had eight children, four of whom are living. She said that she came home one day and found that her husband had deserted her and that he had abducted their four children. Also, she said that she determined to locate her children, "if she had to go to the end of the world to do so," and "if it took the rest of her life."

Hearing that her husband was in California, she said, she went there, only to learn that he had hurriedly left for Denver.

"Then the race was on," she continued. "I chased him all over the country for five years, and during that time things were, indeed, exciting. My courage never left me, and, although in several cities I just missed him by several minutes, I never gave up, but took the following train. On one occasion I was in the last coach and my husband was in the first, but he skipped before I could land him.

Mrs. White said that at present she was residing in Washington and that she would remain there until after her husband was tried on the charge of bigamy. When asked if she still loved her husband, she said:

"That man is the father of my children, I cannot forget that; but, no respectable woman could have love or respect for such a man as that."

Mrs. White said that she located three of her children in an institution in Pittsburgh, and her oldest daughter was found doing housework of the wife with whom her alleged husband was living.

White is now in the workhouse at Washington and will complete a sentence of six months today which was imposed on him on a charge of assault laid against him by the other wife for beating her. Requisition papers will be asked for today, and a detective will be sent to Washington to bring him to this city to answer the charge of bigamy.

So-called Mrs. White No. 2 said yesterday that she was going to try and secure White's release from the workhouse.

LITERARY LION AT LUNCH.

The American who remains in London for any length of time is apt to be impressed by the ease with which it is possible to come into contact with the literary lights of England. If he is not so fortunate as to meet them personally (and this is easy in respect to some if he attends a Pilgrim banquet in London), he may at least have the opportunity of taking a good look at them and often, for they have their haunts and it is only necessary to be at the right place at lunch time during the season to see the lions eat and to get other points about them that go to show how human authors may be after all, even if they are celebrated.

At one single luncheon at the Savoy during the season it is possible to make up a whole page of "Who's Who." For instance, that tall, thin man, with yellow hair and reddish face, who sits uncomfortably on a minute portion of his chair, talking to the Oriental-looking woman, is William J. Locke, the novelist and playwright. That tiny man, with a long, heavy, dark mustache and mournful eyes, who is lunching with Charles Frohman, is J. M. Barrie. They usually lunch together at least once a week when Frohman is in London.

The tall, thin woman, with the reddish hair, who looks like anything but literary, is Mrs. Julia Frankau, better known as "Frank Danby." The heavy set man, with the thick mustache, who has just stopped to speak to T. P. O'Connor ("Tay Pay"), is Dr. Conan Doyle.

The short, smooth-faced man who is lunching alone near the window is E. Phillips Oppenheim, who has located some of his stories in the Savoy or in the Cecil, next door. The man with the brown, pointed beard, who looks like an American, is Sir Gilbert Parker, the novelist and member of Parliament.

Over there you may see Arthur Wing Pinero, the dramatist, while Henry Arthur Jones is, in all probability, taking lunch there also. If you get the friendly offices of the head waiter you may have pointed out to you all sorts of other literary and artistic celebrities, ancient and modern, with a fair sprinkling of theatrical managers, playwrights, actors and actresses.

Not Sorry for Blunder.

"If my friend hadn't blundered in thinking I was a doomed victim of consumption, I might not be alive now," writes D. T. Sanders, of Harrodsburg, Ky., "but for years they saw every attempt to cure a lung-racking cough fail. At last I tried Dr. King's New Discovery. The effect was wonderful. It soon stopped the cough and I am now in better health than I have had for years. This wonderful life-saver is an unrivaled remedy for coughs, colds, lagrippe, asthma, croup, hemorrhages, whooping cough or weak lungs. 50c, $1.00. Trial bottle free. NOW THE CONCRETE TIE.

Only a Few Months Ago Capitalists Laughed at Invention. San Francisco Dispatch.

The first payment of a total of $17,000,000, to be turned over to George Gates, a 70-year-old G. A. R. veteran of San Jose, who invented the concrete railroad tie, is now in escrow in the Crocker National Bank.

A syndicate of Eastern railroads has been formed to buy Gates' patent rights and $500,000 will be given to him tomorrow, when the contract is signed, and by January 2, 1911, the total of $17,000,000 will be placed to his account.

Capitalists, whose names are known throughout the world, are delighted to have been able to buy the patent rights "at such a bargain." A few months ago they looked upon the plan of the veteran as a harmless vagary of senility and would not have contributed a dime toward buying his patent. The sudden change came when a California electric road studied the concrete tie of Gates and put them into use.

A Household Medicine.

To be really valuable must show equally good results from each member of the family using it. Foley's Honey and Tar does just this. Whether for children or grown persons Foley's Honey and Tar is best and safest for all coughs and colds. Howard Gardner.

Of course the doctor likes his patients to be well heeled.

Both Speedy and Effective.

This indicates the action of Foley Kidney Pills as S. Parsons, Battle Creek, Mich., illustrates: "I have been afflicted with a severe case of kidney and bladder trouble for which I found no relief until I used Foley Kidney Pills. These cured me entirely of all my ailments. I was troubled with backaches and severe shooting pains with annoying urinary irregularities. The steady use of Foley Kidney Pills rid me entirely of all my former troubles. They have my highest recommendation." Howard Gardner.

OCEAN LINER'S MODEL.

That of Titanic to Cost A Small Fortune.

New York Sun.

The American who remains in London for any length of time is apt to be impressed by the ease with which it is possible to come into contact with the literary lights of England. If he is not so fortunate as to meet them personally (and this is easy in respect to some if he attends a Pilgrim banquet in London), he may at least have the opportunity of taking a good look at them and often, for they have their haunts and it is only necessary to be at the right place at lunch time during the season to see the lions eat and to get other points about them that go to show how human authors may be after all, even if they are celebrated.

Eight men devoted their whole attention for practically a year in the Harland & Wolff shipyard at Belfast, Ireland, to the construction of this model. The hull they shaped from a huge oak log. Whereas nearly all other steamship models have been made of solid timber, this one has been hollowed and an electric ventilation system installed, it having been found that the solid hull invariably warped and split.

All the superstructure is of thin sheet metal, fine wire and brass castings. Everything is drawn carefully to scale, even to the tiny handles of the winches. In the interior of the model electric lights have been placed and these shine out through the miniature portholes in a very lifelike manner.

No details have been omitted. From the wireless apparatus to the binnacle the ship stands complete. It lacks only crew and passengers, and water to float it. A lilliputian searchlight throws its pencil beam ahead, and port, starboard and masthead lights glimmer in conformity to the nautical law. Altogether this wonderful little craft cost the builders $12,500.

A VOLCANIC BEACON.

Curious Lighthouse of the Republic of San Salvador.

The republic of San Salvador, on the Pacific side of Central America, is the only government on earth that collects lighthouse fees on account of a volcano that it owns.

The volcanic beacon is about eight miles inland from the port of Acajutla and its pillar of cloud by day and its fire sky night are visible for many miles out at sea. It erupts every seven minutes and is just as accurate as any revolving light that warns mariners in any part of the world. This volcano has been keeping up this seven minute series of eruptions ever since any one can remember. It is a favorite amusement of visiting gringos to sit by the hour during the lazy afternoons and, watch in hand, time the eruptions until they tire of the amusement and fall asleep.

Every vessel that puts in at Acajutla—and it is quite an important port of call along that part of the coast—has to pay its lighthouse fee. There is no other lighthouse than the volcano, but that is a sufficient excuse for the government of Salvador to make a charge for its services. The explosions that accompany the eruptions sound like detonations of heavy charges of dynamite, but are not sufficient to shake the ground perceptibly more than a mile or two from the summit of the crater. At night there is a spurt of fire, a muffled report and a cloud of steam. By day only the steam is visible—New York Press.

CONAN DOYLE WAS LATE.

The Lonely Schwarzenbach Inn and a Literary Coincidence.

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle once walked over the Gemmi. He was much impressed by the desolate appearance of the lonely looking Schwarzenbach inn. Here, it seemed to him, was an ideal scene in which a novelist might locate a story of mystery and crime.

He proceeded to invent a story of mystery and crime suitable to the creepy environment. It was a story of murder—the murder of a long lost son just home from the wars by his own father, the needy innkeeper, who did not recognize him until after the deed was done, but had resolved to kill and rob the first lonely stranger that passed that way with money in his pocket.

"The very thing," thought Sir Arthur, and he went down the hill cheerfully revolving the morbid conception in his mind. Then a strange thing happened.

After dinner, in the hotel at Leukerbad, he picked up a volume of Manassant's short stories and found that the French author had not only been to the Schwarzenbach inn before him, but had actually located there a story practically identical with the one which he himself had just devised—Travel and Exploration.

Make Up Your "List"

Christmas is drawing very near. No use waiting until the eleventh hour. Make up your list today. Jot down the names of all to whom you intend to make presents. That done, mark down what you desire to give them.

Then select every day one or two presents. A small deposit will secure them for you. They will be laid aside until the day before Christmas.

A look at the show windows and the store proper will aid in making selections. Come whenever you like, and as often as you please. We will be very glad to show you around. You will never be urged to buy.

You will probably give at least one watch. By buying it here you will save enough so that for the difference you can secure a very good chain to attach to it.

There will surely be some one to whom you will want to give a ring, to others bracelets, lockets and scarf pins, brooches and studs. For still others you will want little trinkets in silver novelties.
